In this version of the smoothed indicator of the cumulative swing index we are introducing some sort of levels that can be used to assess trends. Floating levels are used for this and so the indicator does not depend on any kind of fixed levels, which makes the indicator a sort of adaptive indicator. Some experiments with periods are recommended. The Cumulative Oscillation Index has smoothed this version of the Cumulative Oscillation Index indicator is trying to add a little more functionality producing much smoother results. Intraday channel breakout indicator which monitors the values of the intraday channel and the unblocks of these channels. The ADXVMA binary indicator ADXVMA realized as "binary" with only two values (+1 for "trend" up and -1 for "trend" down). Heiken Ashi has been smoothed instead of using "trough" prices for calculations, the smoothed Heiken Ashi indicator uses smoothed/filtered/average prices instead.
